

A human-rights-based approach to the delivery of social services.

Infrastructure investment to develop community spaces.

Increased funding for services supporting marginalised communities.

Resourcing a skills assessments of international protection applicants as part of a new skills agenda for the community and voluntary sector.

Funding research on the role of the community and voluntary sector in integration.

Protection of Ireland's cultural heritage and recognition of the contributions of marginalised and minority groups.

Contains wording throughout on various assessment-based services. Nothing specifically on human rights.

Development of a Rural Communities Initiative and an Urban Communities Initiative (10).

Throughout re different groups.

We are committed to broadening the legal pathways for skilled migrants to come to Ireland to work (123).

NO

Throughout re different groups.

Will engage in discussions at key international forums, including the EU & UN, to uphold the universal nature of human rights, ensuring that these rights apply equally to all individuals, regardless of gender identity, sexual orientation, or any other characteristic. (70)

Funding Local Sports and Community Spaces (54).

Throughout re different groups.

Linked more to attracting skilled migrant workers than international protection. Potential within integration section on education and the Migration and Integration Strategy (67)

NO

Throughout re different groups.

Proposals re a "Welcoming Nation" (66).

Building Sustainable Urban and Rural Communities (54).

Throughout re different groups.

Proposal to provide education supports. Nothing on skills assessment (66).

NO

Throughout re different groups.

Undertaking socio-economic analyses and impact assessments in host areas to better inform the planning of public services (120). Proposals re 'An Ireland for All' with specific reference to the protection of human rights (121).

Community and Rural Development (113).

Throughout re different groups.

Working with the Department of Enterprise to assess annual additional employment needs, and the management of a comprehensive database showing shortages in specific job fields to ensure the employment permits system accurately reflects the labour needs of the Irish economy (122).

Not specifically on the sector. Overseeing the collection of data and commissioning of research on migration and integration to inform strategic planning and investment (120).

Throughout re different groups.

Will champion human rights and accountability across the political and legal systems of the country, and promote our values in Ireland and abroad (85).

increase capital investment to create and develop community spaces and facilities that offer opportunities to young people (76).

Throughout re different groups.

Take measures to improve integration and social cohesion, including a revised and enhanced system for having qualifications and competencies recognised and accredited in Ireland. By improving mechanisms to recognise the skills and qualifications that refugees and international protection seekers and other migrants bring, we can, with appropriate support and training, better enable them to contribute to the economy (80).

NO

Throughout re different groups.

Our laws, policies and practices should safeguard inclusivity and human rights for everybody including rights to non-discrimination (90).

Support Gaeltacht cooperatives, community development and community halls (60). Increasing funding for family resource centres, men's sheds, community centres, public participation networks and the community services programme (116)

Working with relevant stakeholders and citizens organisations to develop mechanisms to increase the participation of disabled people, members of LGBTQI+, Traveller and Roma communities, working class and rural women's participation in politics and all levels of decision-making (93).

Reference to their policy document on immigration, which references migrants wanting to use their skills (158).

NO

Throughout re different groups.

Commitments throughout re the delivery of public services.

Increase support to local community centres (36).

Throughout re different groups.

NO

NO

Throughout re different groups.

"If a town or village agree to an increase in their population, the Government must provide immediate, sustainable investment in public services such as schools, healthcare and housing so that not only can local services cope with more demand, but that those who wish to create conflict with others on the basis of pressure on public services will have no fertile ground on which to spread disharmony" (27).

Will invest in community centres, community sports facilities, drug rehabilitation, mental health services and interventions (Part II.46).

Not universally applied to all marginalised groups.

NO

NO

Limited.